

Redis Eats Customer Support Procedures

Overview

This document describes how the Redis Eats customer support team operates, what support channels are available, and what customers can expect when they contact support.

Support Channels

Redis Eats offers three main support channels:

Channel	Best For	Availability
In-App Chat	Order issues, refunds, account help	24/7
Email	Non-urgent questions, documentation requests	24/7 (response within 24 hours)
Phone	Complex or urgent issues	8 AM – 10 PM local time

For the fastest response, use In-App Chat. This connects you directly to a support agent with access to your order details.

Contacting Support Through the App

1. Open the Redis Eats app.
2. Tap your profile icon in the top right corner.
3. Tap Help.
4. Browse help topics or tap Contact Us to start a chat.

For issues related to a specific order, go to Order History, select the order, and tap Get Help or Report a Problem. This routes your request to an agent who already has your order details.

What to Have Ready When Contacting Support

To help resolve your issue quickly, have the following ready:

- Your account email address
- Your order number (found in Order History)
- A brief description of the issue
- Any photos that might be relevant (e.g., wrong items, damaged food)

Response Time Expectations

Channel	Expected Response Time
In-App Chat	Under 5 minutes during peak hours; typically immediate
Email	Within 24 hours
Phone	Under 10 minutes hold time during business hours

Response times may be longer during high-demand periods such as major holidays or severe weather events.

Issue Resolution Process

When you contact support:

1. Triage: The agent reviews your account and order history.
2. Investigation: For complex issues (e.g., missing items, delivery disputes), the agent may review GPS data, driver reports, or restaurant confirmations.
3. Resolution: The agent will offer one or more of the following:
 - Refund (to original payment or Redis Eats Credit)
 - Replacement order
 - Account credit
 - Escalation to a specialist team
4. Confirmation: You will receive a confirmation email summarizing the resolution.

Most issues are resolved within the same support session.

Escalations

If you are not satisfied with the initial resolution:

1. Ask the agent to escalate your case to a supervisor or specialist team.
 2. Escalated cases are reviewed within 2 business days.
 3. You will be contacted via email with the outcome of the escalation.

Fraud and Unauthorized Account Activity

If you suspect unauthorized activity on your account (unrecognized orders, changed contact information):

1. Contact Redis Eats Support immediately through In-App Chat or by phone.
2. An agent will secure your account, review recent activity, and initiate a fraud investigation.
3. Change your password as soon as possible through Account Settings > Security.

Do not share your account credentials with anyone.

Feedback and Complaints

Redis Eats values customer feedback. To submit general feedback or a formal complaint:

1. Go to Help > Give Feedback in the app.
2. Or email feedback@rediseats.example.com.

Formal complaints are reviewed by our Customer Experience team and may result in process improvements.
